WELCOME TO METRO.US

MORGAN ROUSSEAU, MANAGING EDITOR

This week is going to be intense — in a good way. Are you ready for Thanksgiving cooking, hosting, traveling and parade-watching? How about Black Friday, Small Business Saturday and Cyber Monday shopping? We are, and we have you covered. Visit our website, Metro.us, for everything you need to prepare for the holiday weekend.

TRUMP: I SHOULD HAVE LEFT UCLA PLAYERS IN JAIL

President Donald Trump said on Twitter on Sunday he should have left in jail the three UCLA basketball players who had been detained in China on suspicion of shoplifting after the father of one of the players questioned Trump's role in their release. "Now that the three basketball players are out of China and saved from years in jail, LaVar Ball, the father of LiAngelo, is unaccepting of what I did for his son and that shoplifting is no big deal. I should have left them in jail!" the president wrote. The three apologized last week and thanked Trump for helping secure their release by raising the issue with Chinese President Xi Jinping during his visit, in their first public comments since being detained.

TRUMP OPEN TO DROPPING HEALTHCARE PROVISION

President Donald Trump would not insist on including repeal of an Obama-era health insurance mandate in a bill intended to enact the biggest overhaul of the tax code since the 1980s, a senior White House aide said on Sunday. The version of tax legislation put forward by Senate Republican leaders would remove a requirement in former President Barack Obama's signature healthcare law that taxes Americans who decline to buy health insurance. "If we can repeal part of Obamacare as part of a tax bill ... that can pass, that's great," White House budget director Mick Mulvaney said on CNN's "State of the Union" on Sunday. "If it becomes an impediment to getting the best tax bill we can, then we are OK with taking it out," Mulvaney said.

SCAFFOLDING COLLAPSE

3 Scaffolding collapsed into the street near the intersection of Broadway and Prince in SoHo just after 11:30 a.m. on Sunday. FDNY investigators said strong wind was to blame for the collapse that injured five people.

MUGABE DEFYING PRESSURE TO RESIGN

4 President Robert Mugabe stunned Zimbabwe on Sunday by making no mention of resignation in a television address, defying his own ZANU-PF party, which had sacked him hours earlier, and hundreds of thousands of protesters who had already hailed his downfall. Two sources — one a senior member of the government, the other familiar with talks with leaders of the military — had told Reuters Mugabe would announce his resignation to the nation after ZANU-PF dismissed him as its leader in a move precipitated by an army takeover four days earlier. But in the speech from his State House office, sitting alongside a row of generals, Mugabe acknowledged criticisms from ZANU-PF, the military and the public but made no mention of his own position.

STORM COMPLICATES SEARCH FOR MISSING SUB

5 A storm on Sunday complicated the search for an Argentine navy submarine missing in the South Atlantic with 44 crew members, as authorities tried to verify that recent satellite calls seen as a sign the sailors were alive came from the vessel. U.S. airplanes carrying subsurface search specialists arrived in Argentina to help hunt for the ARA San Juan, which was 268 miles off Argentina's coast when its location was last known early on Wednesday, said navy Admiral Gabriel Gonzalez. More than a dozen boats and aircraft from Argentina, the United States, Britain, Chile and Brazil had joined the effort. Authorities have mainly been scanning the sea from above as waves of up to 26 feet and winds of up to 40 knots made the search difficult for boats, Gonzalez told reporters.

New foods could change what and how we eat

The Thanksgiving holiday is perfect for embracing new, sustainable foods.

LUZ LANCHEROS,
MWN
@MetroNewYork
letters@metro.us

For centuries, writers have imagined pills that are the equivalent of an entire meal. But a little more than a decade ago, scientists actually started to develop food in a sustainable way.

According to the last report released by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), food demand is expected to grow by 70 percent in 2050. If this projection is extrapolated to livestock activities, we are looking at the production of 65 percent more nitrous oxide, 67 percent more methane and 64 percent more ammonia, which contributes to acid rain.

That's why scientists are investigating ways to create animal products without interfering with the alimentary chain. Since 2013, Dutch scientist Mark Post has been working on a hamburger in his lab. Post hopes that in five years it could become available in grocery stores. However, critics have doubts about the price of such products, and about the public skepticism.

Some projects have been successful. Real Vegan Cheese, for example, makes vegan cheese by synthesizing the animal genome.

"We believe that the days of using cows as food production machines is environmentally irresponsible," Real Vegan Cheese says on its website. "This project will address future food scarcity concerns, as yeast are renewable and the processes to cheese are nearly limitless."

Other similar projects include Clara Foods, which fabricates chicken eggs, New Harvest, a foundation where bio-projects are financed, and IndieBo, which finances bio-startups.

Q&A with Audra Davies, vice-president of investigation at Amway

There is a boom in nutritional supplements in the market. How do you produce yours?

We use natural components and have farms in Mexico, Brazil and the U.S. We grow our products organically through sustainable processes. We always make tests, in a constant way, with certified management practices, and in that way, we guarantee the quality of our products. There is also science in the way we monitor all components, because we add them to the products based on biotechnology to guarantee their benefits.

Audra Davies discussed the advantages of vegetable-based products. MWN

Which is your most revolutionary product?

Amway has a long story with botanical components. One of them is the acerola, we cultivate it in Brazil and we process it in the United States. It has a wide use in nutrition and in cosmetic care, because in skin it gives some antioxidant effects. That helps for expression lines and wrinkles.

What are the advantages of vegetable-based products?

Our philosophy is based in phytonutrients: We consider that there are components in plants that make a difference in human health. When we investigate with botanical products, we also think about sustainability and the environment.

IS LAB FOOD HEALTHIER?

It seems that lab-grown food, as being produced without pesticides and other chemical and pathological components (like antibiotics and hormones), could be healthier. However, there are not yet convincing studies on the issue.

A study made by Zion marketing consultancy showed that by 2022, the market for Lab food will earn $220.3 billion. But there is no research that could guarantee its benefits.

Baby Boomers Benefitting From Knee Arthritis Treatment

How Cutting-Edge Treatments and Technology Are Helping Knee Arthritis Sufferers

New York City - Nothing is more true. A life with constant pain is not a life worth living. And if you can't stay active and do all the things you love - like walking, playing golf, tennis, vacationing etc. It's not really a life at all.

...the Pain Is More Like A Prison

And for generations, knee arthritis has given good, hard working people a life sentence of pain and suffering. To make things worse, slick marketers only add to the pain by promising wonder cures. Late night television and your mail box are filled with "wonder arthritis cures" that make wild claims and sound too good to be true . . . Because They Are

Nothing is worse than getting your hopes up - spending your hard earned money - only to be let down time after time.

It is easy to give up...

But while marketers were peddling "wonder cures," real doctors and researchers were hard at work trying to discover a real medical solution. Modern medicine eradicated small pox and polio. Through laser eye surgery, doctors can give almost blind people perfect 20/20 vision. The potential cures on the horizon with breakthroughs like stem cell and regenerative therapies are endless.

Solve The Riddle Of Arthritis Pain?

For the past 3 years, that's exactly what a medical clinic in New York City has been doing. The NYC Pain MD doctors have been able to help thousands of knee arthritis sufferers with cutting-edge treatments and technology older generations could only dream about. One of these treatments in particular has helped thousands of patients ease or eliminate pain and go back to doing their favorite activities like: walking, playing golf, tennis and many more. The treatment is called viscosupplementation. But wait. This is NOT the typical viscosupplementation. So if you are one of the many knee arthritis sufferers who already had viscosupplementation and did not get great results - what you are about to discover should be very important. to you in particular. It might even get you out of pain.

Here is why: During viscosupplementation, a special lubricating gel is put directly into your arthritic knee joint. This not only helps the knee joint to glide more smoothly, it acts as a cushion, protects the joint. and relieves a lot of pain. This is often referred to as "joint oil." In many cases, when done properly, this can dramatically lessen knee pain for up to 6 months and much longer in many cases.

And even better - if this treatment works for you the first time - it can be safely repeated when necessary and the results are often better for some.

Like Threading A Needle?

The key to this treatment being successful is actually getting the special lubricating gel directly into the joint where it can go to work. That's why the doctors at NYC Pain MD use very advanced digital imaging that allows them to see directly into the joint and make sure the lubricating gel "hits the spot" and the treatment has the best odds for success. Studies show that doctors doing these types of procedures without this special imaging actually miss the joint space up to one third of the time!

"I've had trouble with my knee walking. I'm a golfer and want to play golf but I couldn't. I made the call and went and it's the best thing I ever did. It's just - now I can play golf, I can walk, I can climb stairs, I can do things I did many years ago".

"It's the smartest thing ever did" "Since I've been going for the treatment for my knees I don't take any pills, I take not over the counter medication.."

"This a good alternative to surgery." "I am so glad I went. I'm so confident I feel so good about it and I recommend It to everybody."

William La Spina . Golf Enthusiast

(While NYC Pain MD cannot say all patients will respond like this we can say they are possible. Every patient is individual and results will vary. patient to patient.)

Why Treatment Can Fail

This is why viscosupplementation can fail for some people. It is also why many knee arthritis sufferers come to NYC Pain MD after failed treatments elsewhere... and are finally able to get relief. It is not uncommon for patients to travel hours for the advanced treatments given at NYC Pain MD.

Patients Should Be Assured About Precision Treatments

ONE BIG MISTAKE we have heard about is to use digital imaging or ultra-sound to mark the knee and then shut off the imaging and then not use it during the treatment procedure.!!! This means the doctor did not actually see if the lubricating gel went exactly where it was intended. The only way to know for sure if the procedure was as accurate as possible - and the lubricating gel went precisely into the joint space - is to use the digital imaging during the entire procedure. You can actually see the lubricating gel as it goes where it is needed. If you did not actually see it on the digital imaging screen - you do not know for sure if you actually got the proper treatment.

If you are going to have this treatment, make sure you ask your doctor if special digital imaging is used THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE PROCEDURE. Not just in the beginning. If you have already had this procedure without this advanced imaging... Or if it was only used in the beginning... There is a good chance you did not get the results you could and should have.

"Clearly, technology is only as good as the doctors using it ... and clearly experience matters"

That's why, if you need heart surgery, you go to a heart surgeon... Not a general practitioner. At NYC Pain MD you will be seen by doctors who are specially trained in this procedure... Do it every day... and see thousands of patients every year. The latest technology combined with experienced and skilled doctors gets the best results possible.

Who Is This Treatment For?

This treatment is not for everyone. But it is for a lot of people who suffer with knee arthritis. Especially if you would like to avoid total knee replacement surgery and possible lessen or eliminate your pain. This treatment

Treatments Their Parents Could Only Dream About

Avoid Knee Replacement Surgery and Stay Active Into Their 50's, 60's, 70s and even 80s

may help you if you have knee pain due to arthritis. It may also help you if you do not have dramatic visible signs of arthritis on x-ray. Studies show that arthritis is present long before it can be seen on x-ray. In fact, the sooner you start this treatment the better. So, if you have knee pain - seeing one of the specially trained medical doctors at NYC Pain MD could be the answer you are looking for. This is important - this is especially for you if you have had viscosupplementation in the past without good results.

Many patients who did not have good results elsewhere are often able to get very favorable results because of the advanced technology and procedure experience at NYC Pain MD. In fact, some patients have decided to cancel knee surgery and others go back to the active life-style they had before it was stolen by all the pain.

How To Find Out If The Experts At NYC Pain MD Can Help You

If you have knee arthritis pain and would like to see if this treatment might help you - the experts at NYC Pain MD offer a complimentary screening appointment.

This screening will help determine if you are a candidate for treatment and also gives you a chance to get your questions answered.

If you are a candidate, you will leave knowing that you found the possible way to lessen or even eliminate your knee pain for 6 months or more.

There is no obligation and if you are not a candidate - the doctor will help you find the best doctors and treatments for your individual case.

To set up a complimentary screening, just call 800-741-5340. But if you want a screening, we recommend calling right now. Due to time limitations, the center can only offer a limited number of screenings per month. They decided to limit the number because they believe in giving every patient the individual time they deserve. If you have ever been to a doctor's office and been rushed or treated like a number - NYC Pain MD is different. We would consider this like a "throwback" to the old days of medicine. Before the days when HMO's and insurance companies (and now Obamacare) turned medicine into a business only and made it so difficult to care for patients the best way possible. If you are looking for a state-of-the-art medical clinic with "old school" ethics and values and treats patients

The Secret To Knee Pain Relief? With advances in medical science and technology the doctors at NYC Pain MD have been able to help thousands relieve their pain and get their active lifestyle back.

How To Get A No-Cost Screening & Find Out If This Knee Arthritis Treatment Is For You

The popularity of this treatment is startling. NYC Pain MD receives hundreds of patients calls weekly... patients looking for options other than surgery that really work. But because this is a real medical treatment - it is not for everyone. That's why the experts have setup an easy screening visit.. This screening will help determine if you are a candidate for additional examination and treatment. This screening is offered at no cost to the patient. All your questions answered and you will find out if this treatment is for you. Zero risk or obligation. Just call 800-741-5340. Tell them, "I would like the knee screening." They will take care of everything. Due to demand, spots are limited - call immediately to avoid unnecessary waiting. The number to call is: 800-741-5340 like the good 'ole days... then NYC Pain MD may be just what you've been looking for. Just call 800-741-5340 and secure your no obligation screening before someone else gets your spot. The risk is nothing. The potential is getting your pain-free life back.

The secret to success: Technology with Caring Doctors: NYC Pain MD combines cutting edge technology with highly trained professional and caring staff to help knee arthritis sufferers.

Mayor de Blasio seeks consultants as part of plan to close Rikers Island

"We're moving aggressively on the long road to closing Rikers Island, and this is a crucial step forward," the mayor said of his request for a proposal for consultants.

NIKKI M. MASCALI
@MetroNewYork
nikki.mascali@metro.us

Mayor Bill de Blasio officially began the process of shuttering Rikers Island on Thursday by issuing a request for proposal to develop an action plan to close the controversial jail complex and find alternate solutions.

"We have a moral obligation to close down Rikers Island and transition to a smaller, safer and fairer jail system," the mayor said. "To make that a reality, we'll be looking at where we can create more off-island space by expanding existing buildings or finding new sites and maintaining an honest dialogue with communities and elected officials."

"We're moving aggressively on the long road to closing Rikers Island, and this is a crucial step forward," he added.

According to the request, the selected consultant will be tasked with evaluating capacity and possible expansion of three existing Department of Correction prisons in Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan as well as give location suggestions for new sites and develop a plan to phase out operations on Rikers, which opened in 1932 and consists of 10 jails.

De Blasio first announced his intent to close the jail within 10 years back in June and replace it with smaller, safer and more modern and humane institutions to halve New York City's inmate population to 5,000 from its current 9,200.

The consultant will work with the city's goal to operate detention facilities that go beyond confinement by providing behavioral, health, developmental and re-entry support for inmates, as well as offer improved access for service providers, lawyers, visitation and transportation to court.

Proposals will be due in mid-December with the consultant chosen in early January, the mayor's office said, adding that "there will be robust community consultation workshops and engagement with neighborhood residents."

For #CloseRikers founder Glenn Martin, this inaugural step in shuttering Rikers Island is encouraging, "but one step in what could be a 10-year journey is not good enough," he told the New York Daily News. "We cannot wait 10 years to close Rikers."

Rikers has historically been plagued by violence and neglect against inmates. A recent study from city Comptroller Scott Stringer found that assaults at the complex increased to 1,332 this year from 470 in 2007, The Wall Street Journal reported.

Public calls to close the troubled complex increased after former inmate Kalief Browder committed suicide in 2015 after being incarcerated for three years without trial for allegedly stealing a backpack when he was 16. He was released after the robbery charges were dropped.

TRUMP'S AMERICA

TRUMP'S TWITTER SILENCE ON TEEN DATER ROY MOORE

We'd all been waiting for this with no expectation that it would ever arrive: The topic so explosive it could make Donald Trump's Twitter thumb go suddenly numb.

It wasn't Russian hacking to steal the 2016 election. He's been tweeting like a madman denying that. It wasn't the threat of nuclear annihilation from North Korea or even the release of three UCLA basketball players after a Beijing shoplifting arrest.

"I should have left them in jail!" the petulant president click-click-clicked on Sunday afternoon, his nose out of joint because one player's father wasn't thankful enough.

But where are Trump's tweets on the teen-dating Republican nominee in the Alabama senate race? The abhorrent Roy Moore (R-Pedophilia) has been reviled and defended from Boulder to Birmingham and back again. He's been at the top of social media trending lists for two weeks now. And yet not a single Twitter character has carried the famous account name @realdonaldtrump.

What gives?

What has silenced the unsilenceable tweeter? Does he harbor some secret affection for the commandment-eschewing Ten Commandments judge? Is Trump still smarting at the defeat of his preferred candidate in September's Republican primary, sitting GOP Sen. Luther "Not Nearly So" Strange? Is Trump loath to risk comparisons with his own chorus of female accusers?

@henican

So many questions, so few days until Alabamians vote on Dec. 12.

Clearly, it isn't just senatorial sex the president is shying away from. He made time for a vicious Twitter rant against Democratic Sen. "Al Frankenstein," who had just apologized for a single act of sexual misconduct. But still not a peep about the allegedly recidivist teen-girl molester who could soon be joining Mitch McConnell's majority.

Legislative Affairs Director Marc Short noted on ABC that Trump hadn't campaigned for Moore in Alabama. Press secretary Sarah Sanders noted that the White House did put out a (mild) statement while Trump was in Asia, urging Moore to step aside IF THE ALLEGATIONS ARE TRUE. But even that was quickly followed by the classic Washington dodge: "The people of Alabama know best what to do," Short said.

Which is all very strange. Now that Twitter's allowing 280 characters, you'd think he'd have twice as much to say.

Metro columnist Ellis Henican is the best-selling author of a dozen books, including "TRUMPTITUDE: The Secret Confessions of Donald's Brain," which hits stores next week. Follow him on Twitter @henican.

EXTEND THE SECOND AVENUE SUBWAY TO THE ROCKAWAYS?

Queens NYC Council member Eric Ulrich's idea of extending the Second Avenue subway via the Atlantic Brooklyn Long Island Rail Road branch connecting with the abandoned Queens LIRR Rockaway Beach line, on to the Rockaways is unrealistic.

This idea has been studied before, along with different Manhattan subway line combinations before going back to the 1960s. All the proposals died due to priority being given to other competing projects for funding, lack of local consensus among elected officials, various transportation operating agencies along with potential city, state and federal funding agencies.

Ulrich has forgotten about the thousands of LIRR riders whose destinations include downtown

LARRY PENNER

Analysis

Larry Penner is a transportation historian and advocate who previously worked 31 years for the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Brooklyn, the Barclays Center and the Financial District. Under his plan, they would have to change from the LIRR to a new subway at Jamaica down the Atlantic Avenue branch running alongside his Second Avenue subway to Queens route. I doubt they would support this concept. The LIRR plans on initiating service to Grand Central Terminal in December 2023 or more likely in 2024. They plan on maintaining service between Jamaica and Flatbush Avenue. Why would the LIRR turn over the Atlantic branch to NYC transit for any subway operation?

Transportation history has a habit of repeating itself, and it will probably do so again. Each generation of elected officials, including Ulrich along with transportation planners and transportation agencies, frequently recycles the same old concepts which never see the light of day.

IF

YOU SMOKE, A LUNG SCREENING COULD SAVE YOUR LIFE.

Getting regular lung screenings can help you stay healthy if:

- You smoke or you used to smoke
- You're between the ages of 55 and 80

A screening can catch lung problems before you feel symptoms and when they're easier to treat. The low-dose CT scan is quick and painless, and the procedure is covered by Medicare, Medicaid, and other plans for eligible patients.

British bakery Greggs replaces baby Jesus with sausage roll and people are upset

British bakery Greggs has apologized after the company replaced baby Jesus with a sausage roll in a recent Christmas calendar advertisement.

Greggs, one of the largest bakeries in Britain, released an image of the Nativity scene featuring three wise men, but instead of baby Jesus being the main focal point of the iconic religious scene, the bakery replaced him with a sausage roll on a manger filled with hay.

While many people recognized their ad simply as a humorous way to promote the popular food item during the holiday season, some Christians were offended by the image, claiming it's a mockery to their religion. Some have gone so far as to call for a boycott.

Those who were upset with Greggs for posting the image took to Twitter to air their grievances.

Simon Richards, CEO of The Freedom Association — a libertarian

Greggs has apologized for the controversial image. TWITTER pressure group called Greggs "sick" and said they would "never dare insult other religions" in a post on Twitter. He also suggested they should donate their proceeds to Britain's Salvation Army.

Rev. Mark Edwards of St. Matthew's church in Dinnington and St. Cuthbert's church in Brunswick, U.K., thinks the ad is "disrespectful" and Greggs was using a religious image for commercial purposes.

"It goes beyond just commercialism, it's showing a total disregard and disrespect towards one of the greatest stories ever told," Edwards said to the Chronicle.

"To replace Jesus with a half-eaten sausage roll is just going to the lowest common denominator," he added.

Some recognized Greggs' attempt at being funny and decided to (sausage) roll with it.

Greggs apologized for the image.

"We're really sorry to have caused any offense, this was never our intention," a Greggs spokesman said. LEROY WHITAKER

Celebrity doppelgängers who kind of look alike

Ah, Hollywood: a place where people, held to the highest standard of beauty, get together and create. But that's the thing: When you get a bunch of beautiful people together, chances are, they're going to look alike. So these commonly agreed upon celebrity doppelgängers should come as no surprise at all.

Here's a list of celebrities that look so much alike, it's like "Wow, you two kind of look alike if I squint just so!" METRO

ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Zoöcy Deschanel & Katy Perry

The "New Girl" star and chronic Taylor Swift frenemy — circa several personalities ago — were both once pale women with dark hair and bangs. Whoa!

Carrie Coon & Anna Torv

With Netflix's "Mindhunter," tons of fans thought Anna Torv's Dr. Wendy Carr was being played by " Fargo " actress Carrie Coon. But they are two different ladies! All right!

Jessica Chastain & Bryce Dallas Howard

These two — who both starred in "The Help" — are often mistaken for each other. OK!

Jeffrey Dean Morgan & Javier Bardem

The "Walking Dead" star and Penelope Cruz's husband have similar face parts. Exclamatory remark!

Amy Adams & Isla Fisher

Adams and Fisher are two more ladies with red hair that people confuse. Sure!

Natalie Portman & Keira Knightley

Knightley was hired for "Star Wars: Episode I — The Phantom Menace" based on her likeness to star Natalie Portman. Yep!

Nina Dobrev & Victoria Justice

The "Victorious" star admits she is often mistaken for the former "Vampire Diaries" leading lady. Lovely!

Margot Robbie & Jaime Pressly

The "I, Tonya" star and the "My Name Is Earl" actress both have eyeballs and blond hair. Goodness gracious!

Tom Hardy & Logan Marshall Green

One of these men was in "Mad Max: Fury Road." The other one played a character who was dramatically shot on "The O.C." Who's who!?

Leighton Meester & Minka Kelly

Glossy brownish hair? Check. Doppelgängers? Apparently!

The 'Search Party' guide to getting away with literal murder

How to cover it up, and cope. Or at least, try to.

RACHAEL VAUGHAN CLEMMONS
@rachaelclemz
rachael.clemmons@metro.us

"Search Party" is back! And in the second season, the TBS series gets darker — and more delightful — than before.

Thankfully, it show still manages its fresh (yet painfully familiar) take on self-obsessed millennials. But this time, it's with a good dosing of murder.

To be clear, we are not condoning murder. Reader, do not do murder! Still, with the first episode of the second season having premiered on Sunday, Nov. 19, we thought it would be a great idea to see just how these oblivious millennials — Dory, Drew, Elliott and Portia — managed to get away with, well, murder. So far, at least. There's no telling how much longer they'll be able to keep it together.

Here's a step-by-step guide to getting away with murder, with tips and tricks from the "Search Party" premiere.

First things first: Freak the f—k out.

This one should come naturally. Dory opens the episode with a panic attack that promises she'll likely suffer PTSD from this incident, forever and always. Drew — king of freakouts — is right there with her. But Elliott has a, dare we say, unnatural calmness about him. What's that about?

Now, let's pretend like everything is fine.

That's right: It's probably because he's so busy pretending everything is fine, and acting like nothing has happened. Even if there is a body folded up in the closet, he's going to take up Chantal's offer for a dinner out in Montreal, you know? You deserve a break, so stand by while your friends have a dance party.

It kind of makes sense that Chantal — the very reason the gang is in this mess — is the worst. So of course, as clueless as she is, she's all about snorting cocaine and having a dance party for her last night of escapism. It's even less surprising that Dory, Drew and Elliott stand by, incapable of participating. I mean, they literally just killed a guy!

You'll need supplies to Dory and Drew aren't taking the let's-cover-up-an-accidental-murder thing too well this season. Can you blame them? TBS bury the body.

Maybe don't opt for the zebra-print suitcase, though. That's a bad choice on Dory and Drew's part.

Back to work: Manipulate everyone around you.

Elliott's preternatural calm is kind of disturbing, no? That, plus his effortless ability to manipulate Portia, hot French-Canadian Matthieu and Chantal — the latter with the promises of the ol' Sleeping Beauty (a sedative high kicked off by the aforementioned cocaine) — is extremely worrisome. Surely, though, he won't be able to keep it up for long. If he does, he might end up being the most sociopathic of the four.

Apologize, a lot.

Dory apologizes to the gang — including Portia, who is feeling left out of the let's-cover-up-an-accidental-murder plot — for dragging them into finding Chantal and covering up Keith's murder. Then she remembers Keith had a daughter and realizes that hey, maybe she's the worst, not Chantal. Even though, again, Chantal is pretty horrible.

Make an even worse decision, if you can help it.

After an accidental murder, you're bound to make one, two or several poor decisions. But Dory stealing Keith's phone is probably the worst decision of all. We'll see!

Fall into a new you and get ready for the Holidays!

Metro deep dives into the score behind the latest Frances McDormand and Woody Harrelson film.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
@MetroNewYork
gregory.wakeman@metro.us

Cinematic sound is just as powerful as the script in many cases. And the supreme court on soundtracks has one clear-cut judge and jury: Carter Burwell is the master of music for more than a dozen Coen Brothers films. He's also worked with Bill Condon, David Mamet, Todd Haynes, Stephen Frears, Spike Jonze, David O. Russell, Mike Nichols, Doug Liman, Sidney Lumet, Charlie Kaufman and more. So what makes one project different from another?

We threw on a headset and hit the studio, so to speak, with Burwell in order to find out.

How do you differentiate between soundtracks? They're each very individual. You always try to have the music be about the film. When the films are so different that makes it easier; it's harder when they have things in common. Putting aside the stories they're individual in every possible way, in story and in sensibilities, and in how they appeal to audiences. Something I try to achieve is not just mirroring the things that you see on the screen and just amplifying them emotionally — that's one thing that music can do, but I try not to do that. I try to find another aspect of what you're seeing rather than the obvious thing. I'll be honest, though, I've worked on films where the director has been, "We need help here. You have got pull the emotion out." But in this particular film ("Three Billboards"), we were always trying to do the opposite because the story is so infused with emotion.

"Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri" uses a very beautiful song [Amy Annel's cover of "Buckskin Stallion Blues"] right at the end. Did you discuss incorporating that song, or mirroring that song with your own music, with writer and director Martin McDonagh?

No, we didn't discuss it. I think when I started working on it the song wasn't in there yet. But we both love that Townes Van Zandt song. I wanted the score to feel like it was from that place in a sense. Like it was from the middle part of the United States, and the song has to feel like it is from there, too. But that wasn't a planned coincidence.

"Three Billboards" is playing in select cinemas now.

Our picks on Broadway

SEE: Farinelli and the King

It's been a tough year politically, and it's understandable if you don't want to spend an evening steeped in the story of a mad king. But the intriguing historical drama "Farinelli and the King," starring the inimitable Mark Rylance as Philippe V, is a well-crafted treat — and will even provide some of that cathartic release you're craving.

The Belasco Theater will be lit primarily by candles, with music from the 1700s played on authentic Baroque instruments, and Handel's arias sung by countertenor Iestyn Davies. Written and directed by Claire van Kampen, it's also a strong piece of work from a talented woman. Opens Dec. 17, farinelliandthekingbroadway.com

SKIP: M. Butterfly

Despite the draw of seeing Clive Owen in a role that plays with the same ominously ambiguous sexual ethics that helped catapult him to stardom in "Closer," this Julie Taymor-helmed think-piece displays a lot of pretty potential with its wings pinned back.

"M. Butterfly"'s roving set pieces are a distraction; Jin Ha, as the namesake Butterfly, merely flits in and out of his scenes.

Despite the juicy appeal of being drawn inside the desperate memory palace of an unreliable narrator — and timely reflections on gender, sexuality and romance — the play fails to adequately set up momentum for its meaningful climax and never quite takes flight.

Our picks off Broadway

A different take on Mean Girls

You'll have to wait until 2018 for Tina Fey's "Mean Girls" on Broadway. But you can get a taste for the high stakes and hilarity of high school girl drama with "School Girls: Or, the African Mean Girls Play" at the Lucille Lortel Theater in the West Village.

Proving that ruling cliques and fighting for a seat at the lunch table are universal rites of passage for young girls, the show follows a group of Ghanaian teens whose social order is upended when a Miss Universe talent scout breezes through town, willing to open the door to opportunity for just one special girl. Oh, and a new girl Ericka, Nabiyah Be, from the glamorous state of Ohio is vying for the title, too.

It's a fun and conventional romp with not one weak link among the entire cast. Through Dec. 23, mcctheater.org

LAST CHANCE:

A Clockwork Orange

A few off-Broadway shows are unfortunately closing a little earlier than expected this season. At New World Stages, the racy, all-male, boldly physical stage adaptation of "A Clockwork Orange" failed to bring in the anticipated crowds for its provocative staging and star Jonno Davies, who came with the show from its sold-out run in London.

"At the Illusionist's Table"
PROVIDED

Despite its swagger, sex appeal and mostly positive reception, crowds may have been looking for something a little lighter. If that's not you, don't miss it. Dec. 2, aclockworkorangeplay.com

Must-See Magic:

At the Illusionist's Table You almost can't go wrong with the immersive shows at the McKittrick Hotel (home to "Sleep No More"), and "At the Illusionist's Table" is no exception.

To oversimplify, consider it dinner and a magic show, plus a complimentary drink. Even if you stop there, you're looking at three courses, a cocktail and a performance for what you'd easily pay for just a show by itself in this city.

But then consider that Scott Silven is at the top of his game as an illusionist, and that his show sold out when it ran in Scotland (and around the world) before making its way to the Heath.

A working mother's guide to overthrowing the patriarchy

education

Never underestimate
the strength of a working mother. iStock

Who says you can only be a “good mother” or a “good worker”?

PAT KING
@MetroNewYork
patrick.king@metro.us

The grossly outdated stereotype that says a woman can either have a family or a career is DOA.

Anyone who has ever met a new mom knows how strong, responsible and able to multitask she needs to be in order to keep a tiny human alive — why wouldn't she be able to keep a keen attention to detail in an office?

We spoke with entrepreneur and journalist Sarah Lacy about her book, “A Uterus Is a Feature Not a Bug: The Working Woman's Guide to Overthrowing the Patriarchy,” to learn more about erasing this stigma and empowering women in the workforce and at home.

As a Silicon Valley journalist, Lacy was subject to more than her fair share of abuse at work (and let's be clear here — no one deserves any share of abuse in order to make a living) from men in the tech industry. But as she sees it, this toxic patriarchy has been in place for as long as the big businesses she covers have been in existence; it was only exacerbated when she became a mother.

“When I had children, I was stunned because I had spent my entire adult life being told that having children would make me distracted and weak and a worse employee, and I would have to make all of these compromises,” says Lacy. “It was this biological distinction that would mean my years of high net-worth were behind me.”

So she decided to prove the patriarchy wrong.

“I couldn't believe the disconnect,” Lacy continues. “What explains the intensity and pervasiveness of this lie? What explains why we believe it, and what explains the reality I found on the other side? As a reporter, I wanted to explore all of those things; as a woman, I want women to know that this isn't some death sentence.”

What's the state of feminism in 2017? Good question — it means something different to every woman, regardless of her desire to have a family. That said, “I'm 41 and most women in my generation haven't wanted to be considered only ‘feminists,’ or only ‘women,’” Lacy shares. “I would go to interview a prominent woman in Silicon Valley and if I were even to ask her a question about being a mother, about being a woman, or if she had encountered bias ever I would be thrown out of her office. Women of my generation who were pioneers of this industry didn't want to be considered as women or support women, or to have anything to do with that narrative. Now, these same women are our most staunch and fearless advocates.”

She's proud of her peers for finally taking a stand, blown away by how galvanized millennial feminists are, and can't help but feel optimistic for the future. “Everything everyone has been saying for years about why millennials are so awful — they don't have a culture of paying their dues — that's great!” Lacy beams. “Because the culture of paying our dues was exactly why women of my generation weren't speaking out about stuff like this.”

“A Uterus Is a Feature Not a Bug” is on sale from Nov. 14.

Giants stun Chiefs in overtime

Big Blue shocked the AFC West leaders on Sunday afternoon at MetLife Stadium.

JOE PANTORNO
@JoePantorno
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

Rather inexplicably, the New York Giants won a football game on Sunday afternoon.

Rookie kicker Aldrick Rosas kicked a game-winning 23-yard field goal with 1:54 remaining in overtime to lift the Giants (2-8) to a 12-9 ugly victory over the Kansas City Chiefs (6-4), just the team's second triumph of the season.

The win was created

FINAL 11/19 (OT)

by a 4th-&6 conversion featuring Roger Lewis' catch-of-the-year effort off an Eli Manning floating deep pass. While being hauled to the ground on what was called defensive pass interference, Lewis miraculously made the catch while on the turf to put the ball on the Kansas City two-yard-line.

After Manning took a knee, Rosas delivered the game-winner.

But it was the Giants' defense that managed to put the team in a position to win.

In their best performance of the year, New York held the Chiefs' fifth-ranked offense to just nine points while creating three turnovers, including two interceptions of Smith, who had just one pick all season entering Week 11.

They provided a big stop in overtime, getting Rosas off the hook after his missed extra point in the second quarter was a big reason why the game went into overtime in the first place.

After he put the Giants ahead 9-6 instead of 10-6 with 1:38 remaining in the game, New York's solid defense broke in the final portion of regulation, allowing the Chiefs to drive down for a game-tying the offense was struggling for most of the afternoon.

Manning threw for just 171 yards, but the ground game was solid. Especially Orleans Darkwa, who put up 74 yards and a touchdown on 20 carries.

Still, they took an improbable lead in the second quarter after Damon Harrison wrangled in Smith's shovel pass that went off the hands of tight end Travis Kelce on Kansas City's 26-yard-line.

It was Smith's second interception of the season. His first came in Week 9 against the Cowboys.

Darkwa provided the opening score of the game, a one-yard rush 1:30 into the quarter. But Rosas missed the extra point to limit New York's lead to 6-0.

It was the highlight of the first half for a team that looked drastically different compared to their Week 10 disaster against the San Francisco 49ers.

The playcalling was far more aggressive, including a first-quarter fake punt on a fourth-and-1 and a running back option pass that ended with Shane Vereen throwing an interception at the goal line.

The Chiefs looked poised to take the lead early in the fourth after Smith hit Tyreek Hill for 38 yards, bringing the ball down to the Giants 16-yard-line. But New York held strong, holding Kansas City to a tying field goal with 13:30 left in the game.

The defense continued to come up big down the stretch. Landon Collins picked off the tight end Kelce after he attempted a bomb downfield off a lateral from Smith with 6:47 to go.

Smith was picked off for a second time with two minutes to go by Jannoris Jenkins, who was criticized all week after a down performance against the 49ers, setting up Rosas' temporary go-ahead field goal.

3 Things learned from the Giants wild win over KC

Getting defensive

This is what the Giants defense was supposed to look like all year, a unit that a year ago was second in the league in scoring defense.

Not only did they limit a potent Chiefs offense to just nine points on three field goals, they kept them from moving the ball. The Chiefs had just 363 yards of total offense, 69 yards of which came on their final drive of regulation.

Three interceptions (two of which come via quarterback Alex Smith, one on a trick play thrown by tight end Travis Kelce) as well as limiting the Chiefs to just 3-of-11 on third downs helped the Giants get the win.

This looked like the Giants defense from a year ago.

Orleans Darkwa marches on

In a game where passing the ball was made difficult by windy conditions, the Giants committed to the ground game to open up things underneath.

Despite getting hit a couple times behind the line, Orleans Darkwa continues to impress. He had 74 yards on 20 carries with a rushing touchdown, adding two catches for 16 yards in the passing game.

His hard-charging, battering ram style worked to soften things up and helped the passing game to get rolling. He continues to be a bright spot this year out of the backfield.

Wingsational

It was a tremendous day at the office for punter Brad Wing, who had two punts inside the 20-yard line.

Wing finished with six total punts for an average of 42.5 yards. But it was his positional punting and ability to pin the Chiefs in their own end that made things incredibly difficult for the visitors.

Last year, Wing's influence on the Giants was overshadowed by the team's strong record. This year, the Giants losses mask his effectiveness as he's continually punting from deep within his own end. He's a truly under-appreciated player on this roster. KRISTIAN DYER

Aries Get involved, travel, study and sign up for events. You'll be at the top of your game, and you should be intent on bringing about positive change. Raise your standards.

Taurus Don't feel you must follow the crowd. Watch to see what happens before you give in to something you are only partially interested in doing.

Gemini on't lead anyone on or make promises you won't want to keep. Speak from the heart instead of saying what you think others want to hear.

Cancer Accept change and you'll be able to move forward. Holding on to the past or doing your job using outdated methods will not help the people dependent on you.

Leo If something isn't working for you, make a change. Don't put up with situations that are injurious to your emotional, physical or financial health.

Virgo Compassion and understanding will be required when dealing with domestic situations. Cooperation will bring you closer to a solution involving children or elders.

Libra If you learn as much as you can, it will result in positive change, a new direction or a higher standard of living. Listen to experts, and share information.

Scorpio Think about what you have to offer, and find ways to use your skills and talents in ways that you've never done before. Your actions will not be forgotten.

Sagittarius It's up to you to bring about positive change. Good things will happen if you are forthright about your motives and ready to negotiate or offer incentives.

Capricorn Use intelligence to maneuver your way through situations. If you are too inconsistent, you will be met with a response that is equally unpredictable.

Aquarius Take better care of your health by monitoring your eating and drinking habits closely. Offer to help someone you'd like to get to know better.

Pisces Take one step at a time. Protect your assets and take care of your liabilities. Refuse to let anyone outsmart or outmaneuver you. Listen carefully. EUGENIA LAST
